At the opening of the Peony season it is appropriate that we feature Peonies in this week's Bulletin. We want you to note that our special prices are placed on small quantities this week. To encourage the small grower we are applying our special prices to groups of five divisions. If you can use more, of course, we will be glad to supply them, but the rate will be the same as that quoted for five divisions. If you have any available planting space, an order from these Peony specials will prove a good investment.

A recent invoice shows that we omitted the large red Poppy, PROSERPINE, from our Poppy list, both in our folder and also in last week's bulletin. While this poppy is not in a class with Lula A. Neeley, it is a good red of splendid size and form. It merits a place in your garden at the low price listed in Bulletin Number 4.

Our five "Top-Notch Iris Special" is a real investment for the small grower. We are offering five of the world's best Irises at profit-making prices for the purchaser. Each one of the group has a good commercial future.

The demand for our Iris Collections has been so great that it is necessary to revise them. A press-proof of a folder, which we will mail to our retail list next week, is enclosed with bulletin No. 4. We will allow you 5% discount on all Iris collections, and the same discount on the quantity prices quoted in the retail list.

It costs us money to adjust previous sales to these special prices, but we want to play fair with the trade. We are issuing refund checks to cover these differences. Check up your previous orders, and if these quotations are lower than the prices you paid, write us. We want to adjust every purchase to which these special bulletin quotations would apply.

The prices in Bulletin No. 4 are limited to September 16th. Terms, cash with order, all shipments to be forwarded by express collect. If desired we will forward by insured parcel post, billing purchaser for the actual expense incurred.
